LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE FORMED

Have Been Doing "Gum Shoe" Work Here For Weeks Without Any Publicity.

BEHIND LIQUOR INVESTIGATION

Known as Non-Partisan Law and Order League—To Work For Law Enforcement.

"Gum shoe" detectives have been advertised far and wide, but a law and order league working without having the limelight of publicity being thrown on them is something new in the annals of history, but such is the case right here in Rushville. A league of such a nature has been in existence here for several weeks and is known as the Non-Partisan Law and Order League, although no one really ever knew it, only the members themselves.

A body of law-abiding citizens got together a few weeks ago and the organization was perfected. The churches are the most important factors in the league and around which the league is centered. They had planned to keep the organization a secret and go on with their quiet but effective work without the public "being on the inside," so to speak. They have had much to do with the recent enforcement of the liquor laws, so one member said today, and they expected to go on with their work in a quiet manner.

The news of the organization was divulged by a member of the order today, but he refused to name the officers of the organization. Other members of the league were cited, but they all refused to name the officers. The nature of the order to a certain extent was explained, however. The executive committee has complete power. It is composed of fifteen members, three coming from each of the five churches in the city.

The member who gave the secret away today thought that it might be well to let it be known that such an organization was in existence in Rushville at this time. He said that in view of the recent liquor law enforcement, he thought that such publicity should be given to the organization. The member in question said that it was the purpose of the league to look after law enforcement, to do all within their power to bring pressure to bear to make the city one that is as near perfect as possible.

It was stated that the league had been working in connection with certain men who have been pushing the prosecution of liquor law violators and bringing them to justice. The member said today that it was the purpose of the organization to take up all civic questions and act in any manner that they thought best for the good of the city.

WANT WOMAN TO RESIGN

Waging War Over School Superintendency in New Castle.

Mrs. Rosa R. Mikels of New Castle, superintendent of the schools at that place, at present is occupying most of the space of the papers of that city.

The school board of the city asked her to resign and take the position of principal of the schools, the position she held before she was promoted, on the ground that a man was needed at the head of the schools. Mrs. Mikels stood pat and refused—thus the row. Many of the citizens of the town are with her and she has the support of the papers.

JUDGE SPARKS POPULAR

Shelbyville Paper Says Democrats Will Probably Support Him.

If there be any opposition to the candidacy of Judge Will M. Sparks among the Republicans of Shelby county, says the Shelbyville News, the News has failed to diagnose the fact, but upon the other hand we do know of quite a number of prominent Democrats who will most likely support him on account of his ability and universal fairness and popularity as a judge.

REMAINED HOME TO SEE 'DRY HOLE' SHOT

Gas Well Near Gwynneville, Belonging to Rushville Natural Gas Company is a Failure.

ONLY TWO OUT OF TWENTY

At the meeting of the township trustees in this city Monday, all of the trustees were present with the exception of Trustee D. E. Sheldon of Hanover township, says the Shelbyville Democrat. Mr. Sheldon seldom fails to attend a meeting and there was much speculation on the part of the other trustees as to what was detaining him at home. The explanation was given today when Mr. Sheldon came to this city and handed in his enumeration report.

A new gas well belonging to the Rushville Natural Gas company on the D. E. Osborne farm, south of Gwynneville, was shot Monday and of course, Mr. Sheldon, who is financially interested, had to be present. The well proved to be a "dry hole" and up to the present time it has emitted no gas. The company owns about twenty wells and this is the second "dry hole" that has ever been found. The gas field in that section of the county is one of the best in the State and this accounts for the fact that the company has always found many gushers.

The Third Degree.

If a delightful and powerful story appeals to you, it would be a great mistake to miss "The Third Degree," the serial story which begins in next Monday's issue of the Daily Republican. It is a beautiful story of the untiring devotion of a faithful wife to her husband; how she attempts to save his life from destruction in the electric chair; and how she is finally successful in her life's mission, that of saving the name which she bears from degradation. It is powerfully told, bearing all of the earmarks of a twentieth century novel.

The story should especially appeal to local people in view of the fact that many saw the dramatic version both in Indianapolis and Connersville. It has scored a remarkable success in all of the leading theaters in the United States. Many playgoers will remember Helen Ware who played in "The Third Degree" in Indianapolis and should read it for that if for no other reason. As a story it is said to be stronger than its stage representation.

The school board of the city asked her to resign and take the position of principal of the schools, the position she held before she was promoted, on the ground that a man was needed at the head of the schools. Mrs. Mikels stood pat and refused—thus the row. Many of the citizens of the town are with her and she has the support of the papers.

COURT HOUSE IN MIGHTY UPROAR

Officials Rushed Down to the Hall of Justice This Morning Before They Were Awake.

GRABBED BITE OF BREAKFAST

Each One Thought That His Watch Was One Hour Slow—Afraid to Mention It.

The entire court house was thrown into an uproar this morning and for what reason no one knew. The sheriff rushed over to his office from the jail, not understanding just what had happened. The clerk of the circuit court, Verne Norris—of course, he lives in the country and is always in the city by six o'clock—it was nothing unusual for him to be there when it all happened.

The judge was just preparing to come down to the sanctum sanctorum when it all happened, and he, too, rushed down to know the meaning of the strange occurrence. He found what all of the rest of the officials connected with the court found, clamor, "hubub" and everything else imaginable. The majority of the above mentioned were rubbing their eyes for after hastily grabbing a bite of pancake and a sip of coffee, they had joined the throng at the court house to learn the cause of all the uproar.

The explanation was not to be found. The court went to his room and there all was quiet—as it should be in the early morning. The clerk and his deputy went to their office, opened up, and there, too, also was quiet. The sheriff who was the last one on the scene, joined the crowd, expecting that something unusual had happened or that someone's birthday was being celebrated, a great man with whom he was not acquainted.

The explanation was not to be found. The court went to his room and there all was quiet—as it should be in the early morning. The sleepy officials were examining their watches just for the sake of knowing exactly the time of the morning. To some of them it seemed even earlier than "sun-up." Each man who looked at his watch pushed it hastily back into his pocket, with a glance around the crowd to see if anyone had seen him. His timepiece said just 7:30 and he would not let anyone know that his watch had lost an hour.

Someone ventured the question, that they did not believe the bell for the opening of court had been rung at the right time. That broke the ice for the great opening and they all explained that it was just one hour earlier than common. The fact of the matter was that the court bailiff, Grant Gregg, had looked at his watch wrong and had rung the bell just one hour early, at 7:15, instead of 8:15. He was accused of visiting the basement of the jail last night.

It was not Mr. Gregg's watch, but his eyes. He came down earlier than usual this morning and opened up the court room. He glanced at his watch and believing it the right time, rang the bell. He walked over to the street corner and there met Jabez Smith, the custodian of the court house, who questioned why the bell had been rung an hour early. The bailiff then realized his mistake. People all over the city were at a loss to know why the bell rang at such an early hour.

PLAN SERVICE ON DECORATION DAY

The Program is Announced by Jabez Smith, Commander of Joel Wolfe Post, G. A. R.

SOLICIT FLOWERS FROM PUBLIC

Members of Grand Army Will March to Cemetery to Decorate Dead Veterans' Graves.

The members of Joel Wolfe Post of the Grand Army of the Republic of this city, are making great preparations for their celebration on Decoration, Monday May 30th. The program has been completed and is announced by Jabez Smith, commander. The Daughters of the American Revolution are asked to join in the exercises.

The exercises to which the public is invited, will be held in the court house assembly room in the afternoon, the program to be started promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The program contains many interesting features. The main address will be delivered by Rev. J. W. Turner, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church. Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be given by John M. Stevens, and several musical numbers will be rendered by well known local musicians.

The morning exercise includes the marching of the members of the local post to the East Hill cemetery and the decoration of the old soldiers' graves. The parade will leave the court house at 9:30 o'clock in the morning for the cemetery. The graves of all the dead veterans will be decorated with appropriate exercises by the members of the Grand Army and the Woman's Relief Corps. Flowers are solicited from the public and should be left at the sheriff's office not later than 8:30 o'clock on the morning of Decoration day.

The program for the afternoon exercise is as follows:

Song—"America."

Prayer—Rev. James Gillespie.

Piano solo—Miss Jessie Kitchen.

Song—Rushville Quartette.

"Lincoln's Gettysburg Address"—John M. Stevens.

Report Statistician—Luther B. Downey.

Oration—Rev. J. W. Turner.

"Marching Through Georgia."

WILL ENFORCE CURFEW ORDINANCE

Mayor Black Announced This Afternoon That All Under 16 Should be in by 8 O'clock.

FIRE BELL RINGS AT THAT TIME

Mayor B. A. Black and City Marshal Jesse Harlow announced late this afternoon that they would enforce the curfew ordinance to the strict letter of the law. They said that, in accordance with the city ordinance, every boy or girl under sixteen years of age will be expected to be in their home at eight o'clock each evening. The fire bell rings each night at eight o'clock, announcing the time for all under sixteen years to seek shelter. The city marshal said that he would pay strict attention to the ordinance.

More women marry between the ages of twenty and twenty-five than at any other time of life.

TO AFFECT ORGANIZATION

Henry County Citizens Meet to Remonstrate Against Dredging.

A dispatch from Moreland to the New Castle Courier says that several citizens of Blue River township, Henry county, met at Brown's hall Tuesday night to arrange to remonstrate against the dredging of Flatrock river which begins in Rush county, money was contributed to defray expenses.

NOMINEE IS NATIVE OF SHELBY COUNTY

Wilbur W. Israel, Who is Candidate For Prosecutor on Republican Ticket, Has Host of Friends.

AN ATTORNEY AT SHELBYVILLE

Wilbur W. Israel, the Republican nominee for prosecuting attorney in the 16th judicial district, is a bachelor lawyer, born in 1868, and reared on a farm in Noble township, says the Shelbyville Republican. He is a native son of "Old Shelby." He was graduated from Franklin college in 1889, when but twenty years of age, and for several years thereafter he was an instructor in the college at Hope, and also at Tyndall, South Dakota. Mr. Israel was principal of the schools in Geneva, also.

Mr. Israel came to this city in 1892 and entered the law office of Love & Morrison, and was admitted to practice in local courts after two years laborious study. He was nominated for the office of Prosecutor in 1891, but was defeated. He is an active member of Shelby lodge F. & A. M., and exceedingly interested in literary pursuits, owning one of the finest libraries in this city.

Mr. Israel deserves and will receive the votes of his party friends and many Democrats and the Republican joins them in wishing for his success.

FARMERS PLAN TO REMONSTRATE

Will Meet in Millville, Henry County, Tonight to Organize Against Dredging of Flatrock.

OBJECT TO THE IMPROVEMENT

There will be a meeting of farmers at Millville Thursday evening to remonstrate against the proposed dredging of Flatrock, says the New Castle Times. It is hoped to get out a large attendance and secure many signatures to the petition against the undertaking.

As stated in the Times a few days ago, most of the farmers of eastern Henry county object strenuously to the proposition, which originated in Rush county. If the Rush circuit court establishes the work as petitioned for and orders the Rush county commissioners to go ahead and order the work done, the assessments will catch all the farmers of Henry county, whose lands are drained by Flatrock or its tributaries. This will make it pretty hard on Henry county farmers, who believe that they will not receive corresponding benefits. The dredging will only be done in Rush county.

When he learned that his resignation had been made public he expressed considerable surprise, as it was his intention not to announce the fact for several days. There are about fifty applicants for the place.

George Tucker, operator at the Vaudet, who intended to work in a northern city, will remain here.

COMING HERE

FRIDAY NIGHT

"Flying Squadron" of Connerville Advertising May Festival Expects to Visit Rushville.

EVERYTHING IS IN READINESS Will be Received by Local Residents in the Court House Assembly Room.

The following letter, says the Connerville Examiner, has been received by E. D. Johnson from B. F. Miller of Rushville:

"Everything is arranged for Friday night, so as many of you come as can and we will be glad to see you."

This refers to the "Flying Squadron" trip to Rushville Friday evening. The automobiles will leave Connerville in time to get over to Rushville for dinner. After dinner the party will have the pleasure of meeting a number of the best citizens of Rushville at the assembly hall in the court house. This is for the purpose of acquainting the people of Rushville with the merit of the coming May Festival, and when the Rushville people say they will be glad to see us, the members of the "Flying Squadron" can be assured that they will have a splendid reception.

It will be a pleasant trip over and back and no doubt the party will be able to interest a lot of the citizens of Rushville in the festival and persuade them to attend all three of the concerts. The committee in charge of the "Flying Squadron" will organize forces for the trip.

A lot of people are overlooking the advantages of the gallery in the Auditorium, for seeing and hearing the May Festival. Season tickets for the gallery are only $1.50, or 50 cents a concert. Anyone sitting in the gallery will not be able to see the audience so well, but will be able to see the chorus and orchestra and hear as well in the gallery as on the lower floor or in the balcony. As far as seeing and hearing is concerned, the seats in the gallery are as choice as any seats in the house. "He that hath an ear to hear, let him hear."

SHELBY COUNTY MAN IS AN APPLICANT

Dr. Edward Wertz Wants to Succeed Rev. Z. T. Sweeney, Who Has Resigned.

FIFTY NAMES ARE MENTIONED

Dr. Edward Wertz of Flat Rock is a candidate for the position of commissioner of fisheries made vacant by the resignation of Rev. Z. T. Sweeney of Columbus, says the Shelbyville Democrat. It is understood that Mr. Sweeney's resignation will become effective the last day of May. His term of office does not expire until April 1911, but it was reported some time ago that he intended resigning before that time. Rev. Sweeney has just returned home from Texas, where he assisted in the dedication of a church.

When he learned that his resignation had been made public he expressed considerable surprise, as it was his intention not to announce the fact for several days. There are about fifty applicants for the place.

His Favorite Poetry.

RIGHT AT HOME WITH HAAKON

At Christiania the Roosevelts Experienced the Finest Example of Democratic Royalty They Have Yet Met—Both the King and Queen Met Them at the Station and Proceeded to Make Them Feel at Home.

Christiansia, May 5.—It may be said that Col. Roosevelt experienced at this capital the finest example of democratic royalty he has yet met. Not only did the king but the queen meet him at the station, and both attended the luncheon in his honor at the American legation. The reception after the luncheon was attended by the usual crowd. The king and queen had gone, and Roosevelt followed as soon as he could, going to the palace and tackling his correspondence. The king went to his room, informally and unannounced, and suggested that he might like tea.

"By George, I would," said Roosevelt. Tea was brought, and for more than an hour the king and Roosevelt talked, the latter telling his majesty of Seth Bullock holding up an audience with a revolver in each hand while Roosevelt spoke against free silver.

The dinner was served in the great state dining room. There were 200 guests, all of whom were seated before the royal party entered, the king, with Mrs. Roosevelt, leading the way, followed by Roosevelt and the queen. They took their seats at a high table on four gilt state chairs. A band in the gallery played the Norwegian anthem and "The Star Spangled Banner."

About two-thirds of the way through the dinner the king rose to propose a toast of welcome, in reply to which Roosevelt said: "It is a peculiar pleasure to be here. We have many Norwegian emigrants. They make such good citizens that I once said I rather grudged the fact that they left any behind them. As the king said, they find love of their native country and love of the country of their adoption entirely compatible. A man can love his wife all the better if he loves his mother a great deal."

He concluded with a little earnest advice to the king and queen, who, he said, "seemed to do all things well," to have little Prince Olaf instructed in the Norwegian sagas, especially the Heims Kringla, which was his (Roosevelt's) particular favorite.

LURE OF THE RED LIGHT

Social Sensation Has Just Been Revealed at San Francisco.

San Francisco, May 5.—It has leaked out that Harry B. Elliott, a former assistant secretary of the Olympic club and a well-known cricket and soccer football player, sailed on the Manchuria for Hong Kong April 26, with a notorious red-light woman, Besie Birchfield, under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Russell. Elliott left a wife and two children at his wife's mother's home near Los Angeles. Elliott became infatuated with the ten-year-old woman six months ago.

REVEALING THE HORRID FACTS

How The White Slave Traffic Is Carried On.

A SYSTEM OF "EXCHANGES"

Disclosures in Connection With the Investigation of the Detestable Trade in Girls Now Being Conducted in New York Are Expected to Reveal the Wide Ramifications of the System in This Country.

New York, May 5.—It is expected information given to District Attorney Whitman by Harry Levinson, the self-confessed dealer in women, will lead to a number of arrests and may be the means of uncovering a system of "exchange houses" where women are kept in readiness for transportation to disorderly houses all over the country. Whether these "exchanges" form the center of the so-called white slave organization does not appear, but the revelations concerning them seem to be the strongest indication of an organized traffic which the investigators have hit upon as yet. So far most of the information given the grand jury with the traffic under investigation has been so general that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., foreman of the jury, has sent out a call for witnesses with real facts to present.

Levinson pleaded guilty to the indictment charging him with placing Ida Greenberg and Gussie Ehrlich with George A. Miller, the district attorney's agent. Before doing so he had a talk with District Attorney Whitman and the confession was continued at some length. According to Edward Carpel, Levinson's counsel, Levinson told Mr. Whitman of three places now in existence in this city where from five to ten women are always kept waiting for transportation to places in New York and elsewhere. Descriptions of these women, the ones in exchanges' waiting lists, are said to be furnished to such persons as wish them, and it is understood that orders that are left at these places for girls, the person placing the order specifying in detail the appearance of the woman he or she wishes to obtain. Levinson is said to have told Mr. Whitman that the "exchanges" are supplied with girls largely by men who get 10 per cent of the girl's earnings for a specified time.

According to Levinson's story a majority of the young women taken to the exchanges come from outside of New York. In many instances they are approached at the cheap theater or moving-picture show by a woman who invites them out to dinner, takes them for auto rides and finally suggests to them an easy way to live comfortably without work.

During the process of preparing the girl's mind for the proposal that she enter one of the "exchanges" the girl is usually introduced to a man who acts as a kind of broker for various houses and whose business it is to see that she is placed advantageously. For his part in the work of procuring he receives a commission on the girl's earnings. He is supposed, too, to look after the girl's "interests" in various ways.

It was not understood from Levinson's story that a majority of the young women introduced into the "exchanges" were previously of unblemished character, but rather that they were of a class that had not previously become irrevocably apart from the world represented by the "exchanges." He is said to have told Mr. Whitman, however, that he felt certain that some at least of the girls taken to these houses had been lured there without knowing the full meaning of the step they were taking.

PARTY EXPEDIENCE

Senate Regulars Appeal to Insurgents in This Behalf.

Washington, May 5.—Voting on the administration railroad bill amendments in the senate has been suspended pending an effort by the regulars to regain control of the situation and preserve the party organization. No further test of strength on the measure will be risked in the senate before next Monday. By that time President Taft will have returned to Washington to add his efforts to the heroic attempts being made now by the senate conservatives to bring some of their more radical brethren in behind the Taft program of legislation. The administration supporters are no longer appealing for votes on the merits of the Taft railway bill, but have turned to the probably more effective appeal of party expediency.

The Governor Was Present.

Spencer, Ind., May 5.—With impressive ceremony the cornerstone of Owen county's new courthouse was laid yesterday afternoon. The largest crowd ever assembled in Spencer witnessed the exercises and heard the address of Governor Marshall.

A Japanese Town Destroyed.

Kobe, Japan, May 5.—Eight thousand houses, all the public offices and three banks at Aomori, northern Japan, were burned. Thirty thousand people are homeless. Sixteen were killed and many injured. The loss is estimated at $10,000,000.

Is the Tuberculosis Crusade Losing Ground?

Sanitarium Seemingly Fail to Check
the Terrible White Plague.
Enormous Sums Spent.

The recent report of the Indiana State Board of Health reveals the startling condition that despite all the efforts being made by advocates of fresh air and egg-and-milk-gorging treatments, the number of new cases has not been noticeably decreased.

This report applies to Sanatorium treatment. It does not take into account the tubercular cases cured by Eckman's Alternative—when the disease was in an advanced as well as early state. The Sanatorium treatment has only benefited temporarily, while Eckman's Alternative has cured.

Write to any sanatorium and ask them to refer you to even five or ten cured cases—not those temporarily benefited—but people who had tuberculosis and are today in perfect health. At the same time write to the Eckman Laboratory, 6th & Market Sts., Phila., and ask them to refer you to Clergymen, Priests, men and women who have been treated by Eckman's Alternative and are today well and strong without a trace of tuberculosis pronounced by physicians. Some of them took the Alternative 11 years ago when doctors said they would not live 11 weeks.

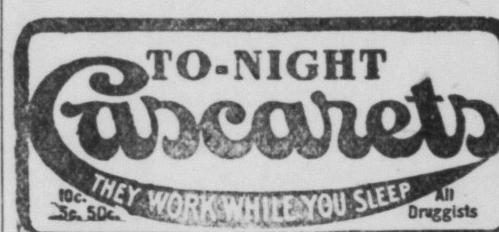

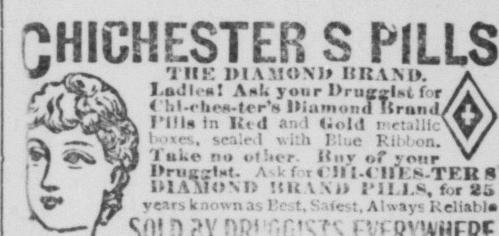

Could anything be fairer to yourself and those who love you and would do well to refer to these cases? If you are skeptical, investigate our advertisements. Write if you will, to those who have sent affidavits and testimonials telling how Eckman's Alternative cured them.

Eckman's Alternative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Rushville at Lytle's Drug Store and other drugists. It can also be obtained at or purchased by your local Dispensary. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for Evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa.

A bit of premeval yew forest about half a mile square is carefully preserved in the Bavarian highlands of Germany, the tree, once widely distributed, having become almost extinct in Europe.

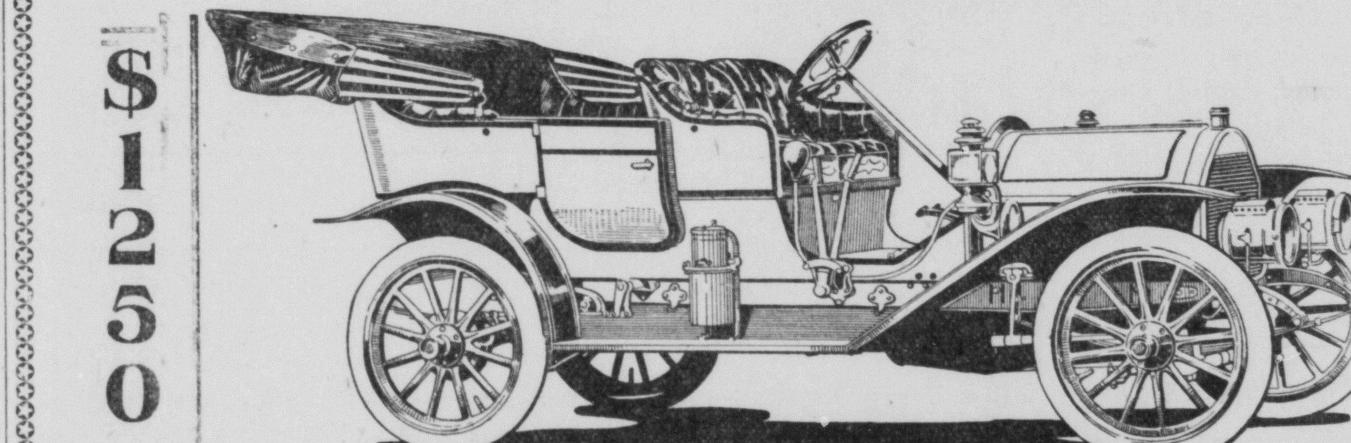

France, like England, is a great lending country. It has an enormous accumulation of wealth, and uses it to finance less affluent foreigners, who return annually a large income to French bankers and investors.

SCHOOL NOTES

Prof. J. H. Scholl.

A prominent writer in the Saturday Evening Post says that many years will have passed before most of this fair land will go to bed supperless. He does not mention that dinner will be served at that hour.

The recent weather predictions have been a frost in more ways than one.

If Taft is going to speak in the Sixth district, what's the matter with Jim Watson's town.

It is not necessary to go to the woods to get close to nature.

If a local enumerator had arrived at a certain residence three hours earlier the population of the United States would have been one less than what it really is.

It's a wise old incubator that will hatch an owl.

Instead of electing senators by direct vote the people will be demanding that the weather forecasters be selected in that manner.

Governor Marshall admits that Democratic politics is not a game of chance. Perhaps T. Taggart did not take advantage of that.

Manager Grand M. Carr of the Star Grand theater sent Jesse Murphy, his soloist, after a quart of benzine Tuesday night and he hasn't "been-seen" since.

In Waterloo, Nebraska, there is an ordinance against barbers eating onions. In New York Charles Beutreman is suing his wife for divorce because she harbors twenty-seven dogs. In Indianapolis they have an anti-hat pin ordinance, and in Washington they are debating "What is Whiskey." In Paris they are delighted with the fluency of Col. Roosevelt's French. It's a gay world.—Kokomo Tribune.

Month of Marriages

Marriages this year will be more numerous in May than other months. The old superstition of May being the unlucky month is now exploded for how could the month of May, the gentle mother of Christ, be unlucky for the bride?

Marriages of late years have been few and far between in the month of May, but recently the old-fashioned repugnance to the month has taken to its wings, and everyone is now believing that May, the month of blooming flowers, when everything is at its freshest, is the one in which the young woman and the man of her choice should be made one, just as the wedding of the season is really begun at this time.

Bridal purchases are being made in great numbers during April; modistes are busy and prospective brides will no longer keep impatient grooms-to-be waiting. Then, too, when bridal journeys are supposed to be delightful ones, with the medium of sight-seeing not destroying the ideal happiness in the company of the adored one, what better month than May, when the sun is not sending relentless rays to earth, and when garments have the first bloom of spring and are not fashioned after those worn months previous?

May it is hereafter, brides-to-be; remember that, if you want to have your wedding at the proper time of the year.

Sign of Prosperity

"The people of Indiana are 'suffering' from almost unprecedented prosperity." That is the way Ben Wallace, of Peru, head of the Wallace & Hagenbeck circus, expressed it after a few days with his show in Indiana, as he gazed at the thousands fighting for admission to the big tent at Muncie.

"The circus is an absolute indicator of financial conditions," he continued. "You hear a good deal about the warsherwoman that sells her cook stove in order that she may take her family to the circus, but that type does not actually exist. When times are hard they are doubly hard with the circus, whose enormous expenses must go on whether the crowds come or not. But, judged by the few days that we have been on the road, the good old times of prosperity have returned to Indiana, at least. The weather has been abominable—could hardly be worse—but the crowds have the money and they have been coming to the show in spite of the weather, and that means that if the people have money to spend upon circuses they have plenty of it to spend upon necessities."

The Care of Teeth

An educational movement has been started by the dentists of Huntington. Each dentist has procured a number of copies of short essays on the care of teeth which he hopes to circulate among his patients. The book is one of about one hundred pages and consists of twelve chapters. It discusses briefly and quite clearly cleanliness of the teeth, filling, extracting, artificial teeth, crown and bridge work, etc. The dentists assert that were people properly informed of value of teeth to animal economy and what can be done for their preservation and be made to appreciate them in all respects less disease of the teeth and loss of them would be suffered.

T. M. Green presented to the high school a large number of volumes of "The Independent." The collection contains numerous articles of merit for the history and literature classes. The gift is greatly appreciated and will be of great use as soon as the indexes are secured.

The Rushville high school has again been honored by being placed upon the list of accredited schools of the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Among the forty-six States of the Union, Indiana ranks second in value of glass products; second in value of vehicle materials; fourth in value of iron and steel products; fifth in value of agricultural implements; sixth in value of clay products; seventh in value of coal produced; 28th as to the restriction of child labor.—National Child Labor Committee.

Miss Pearl Young, who was in school here for two years, has graduated from the Fort Wayne high school, and is now attending the Tri-State Normal College, at Angola, preparing herself to be a teacher. Miss Young was a faithful student and an excellent girl while in school here, and her friends will be glad to hear of her progress.

Miss Edith Holden, who has been attending Butler College this year, will attend the normal school at Winona during the summer vacation.

Harold D. Sniff will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science from the Tri-State Normal College at Angola, June 3. Harold is looking forward toward a position as teacher in a high school and is very enthusiastic about his work. Harold is a young man of great energy and ambition and he will no doubt make a success wherever he goes.

It is also desired that you endeavor to induce road officials to paint upon the posts of boxes which are located at crossroads (but not attach signs thereto) the names of the towns or villages to which the crossroads lead, with an indicator showing the direction.

Posts to which boxes should be attached shall be set in an easily accessible position at the side of the road and boxes securely fastened to a projecting arm of wood or to a bracket of band iron about three-sixteenths of an inch thick, or, if preferred an automatic extension arm may be used.

Johnson's FROZEN TAFFY Excels.

Large Tires Better

The longevity of tires, a most vital problem with the automobile owner, has recently been put to severe tests by experts. These experiments have revealed a remarkable difference in wearing qualities between tires varying only slightly in size.

Many cars, equipped with 36x4½ inches tires, were tested against others equipped with tires two inches smaller in diameter and one-half inch smaller in width. The larger tires lasted just twice as long. The larger wheels, as well, showed greater power of resistance against strains, being stronger than smaller ones because of their greater weight.

The marked difference between a tire of large size and a smaller tire is accounted for by the fact that smaller wheels drop into holes in the roadway, adding greatly to the wear on tires, as well as to the discomfort of the occupants of the car. Big wheels and tires glide lightly over depressions, providing wider cushioning surface and thus adding to comfort as well as to tire economy.

Farmers Own Most of 'em

The number of automobiles owned by farmers is growing rapidly. Out of 10,000 automobiles in Iowa 5000 are owned by farmers. Kansas farmers spent $3,200,000 for automobiles during 1909, and $2,750,000 in 1908. In one Nebraska town of 800 population 40 automobiles were sold last year to farmers near town and retired farmers in the town. Careful estimates of the number of automobiles owned by farmers in the entire United States is 76,000. Nowadays there is no more cry about lack of opportunity on the farm. Sixteen automobile makers are advertising automobiles to the farmer in the 450 farm papers of the country, and most of them are arguing that the automobile will keep the boy on the farm and make life more livable for the wife, whose dreary round of labor has been the pity of the country.

Now the farmer with an automobile can take his family for an evening call or lecture without using his horses. He can go to church on Sunday more regularly; he can visit distant relatives and friends more frequently; he can go to town oftener and more quickly. One Dakota farmer who is extremely fond of hunting, but lives 40 miles from the game district takes his son with him on Saturday during the season and comes back with a deer or two slung across the radiator and bubbling over with tales of his luck.

There are 48,000,000 people living on farms and in towns of less than 4000 in this country. This means that over half of our population is practically in the country. About 25,000,000 of these are young people, and they are just as keen for pleasure as young people anywhere else. That is one big reason for the automobile on the farm. Ten or 15 years ago farmers bought organs for their daughters and buggies for their sons. A great many of them today are buying automobiles for the whole family. An entirely new meaning has been given to the village social life in consequence.

Paint Mail Boxes White

The following letter, which expresses an earnest desire of the Department, has been received by Postmaster Frazeé and doubtless by all postmasters throughout the country, from P. D. Mehan, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General:

It is the desire of the Department that you earnestly request patrons of rural delivery out of your office to paint their boxes and the posts to which they are attached a pure white color.

This course, if pursued, will not only result in benefit to the patron in serving to protect his box and post from damage by the weather, but will give all boxes a uniform color and serve to fix their identity in all parts of the country as United States mail boxes, and will give them a much neater and sightlier appearance than they now possess. It is also desired that patrons be induced to imprint their names and box numbers on boxes in black letters about two inches high.

It is also desired that you endeavor to induce road officials to paint upon the posts of boxes which are located at crossroads (but not attach signs thereto) the names of the towns or villages to which the crossroads lead, with an indicator showing the direction.

Posts to which boxes should be attached shall be set in an easily accessible position at the side of the road and boxes securely fastened to a projecting arm of wood or to a bracket of band iron about three-sixteenths of an inch thick, or, if preferred an automatic extension arm may be used.

Household Hints

To remove mildew from white cotton cloth put a teaspoon of chloride of lime in a quart of water, strain twice, then dip the mildewed spots in this solution and lay in the sun. If not successful, try again.

A little kerosene on a soft wet cloth remove all dirt and grease from painted kitchen walls and the gas range.

Boil lamp burners occasionally in soda water, soak the wicks in vinegar, dry well.

Use dry coffee grounds to stuff pin cushions. Needles and pins will never rust.

In washing light painted wood-work, use a little whiting on the flannel cloth instead of soap.

A use for old chantilly lace, which is worn in holes, is this: Cut out the figures which are unworn and applique on chiffon to use for a trimming for gowns or for entire gowns.

To keep outdoor brass from tarnishing, clean as usual, then rub it over with a soft cloth dipped in vaseline and polish with dry cloth.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet offers a Bison film tonight in the subject "The Female Bandit." It is said to be a picture of much merit, telling an interesting story in which both comedy and drama are artistically combined. Denning Havens will sing a new illustrated song.

The Star Grand presents a Biograph subject tonight entitled, "The Way of the World," a lesson in Christian charity. "Let he that is without sin cast the first stone." What a powerful sermon these few words preach against the world's propensity to ignore Christ's teaching and example. His hand was ever stretched forth to lead the erring from the path of sin, while by us is presented the prone hand to crush them still deeper in the quagmire of iniquity. This is the moral presented in this Biograph subject. The scenes of the production are laid at the historic San Gabriel Mission, California. Earl Robertson will sing the illustrated song "The Round Up."

An Expert's Opinion of Skin Disease.

A prominent, national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a disease to conquer as Eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin disease, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Mr. F. E. Wolcott will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin disease and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

CHAPTER XIX.

THE RETURN.

FROM the highlands below the Monastery Captain Haas and his men were able to study the situation in the city. The impracticability of an assault on any one of the stubborn, well guarded gates was at once recognized. A force of 700 men, no matter how well trained or how determined, could not be expected to surmount walls that had often withstood the attack of as many thousands. The wisdom of delaying until a few thousand loyal though poorly armed countrymen could be brought into play against the city appealed at once to Prince Dantan and John Tullis.

Squads of men were sent without delay into the hills and valleys to call the panic stricken, wavering farmers into the fold. John Tullis headed the company that struck off into the well populated Ganlook district. Marlanx, as if realizing the nature of the movement in the hills, began a furious assault on the gates leading to the castle. The watchers in the hills could see as well as hear the conflict that raged almost at their feet, so to speak.

The next morning Captain Haas announced

ITS THE SURE DAN
DRUFF CURE

Men and women, be sensible, what's the use of wasting time and money trying to drive dandruff and dandruff germs from your scalp when F. B. Johnson & Co. guarantees Parisian Sage to completely rid your scalp or dandruff in two weeks or money back.

Mrs. F. J. Moreau, 9 Oak St., Concord, N. H. wrote Nov. 1, 1909. "Parisian Sage has done wonders in my case as a dandruff cure, for my scalp was in a bad condition.

Hair doesn't fall out as bad, the new is making its appearance fast. Am still continuing its use."

In over a thousand towns in America news of the marvelous cures of Parisian Sage are spreading. It is undoubtedly the greatest hair grower in the world.

It will stop itching scalp and falling hair in two weeks, or money back.

It refreshes the scalp gives it a delightful, comforting feeling, and is not sticky or greasy.

It puts the radiance of sunshine into woman's hair, and women who use it regularly are sure to compel admiration. It makes women's hair grow profusely; yet silky and lovely.

A large generous bottle only costs 50 cents at druggists everywhere and at F. B. Johnson & Co. Girl with the Auburn hair on every bottle.

If Sick

Don't risk even one single penny!

And I will tell you why I say this.

It is because every package of Dr. Shoop's medicine is absolutely free if it fails.

No one need risk even one single penny.

Just think what this means to the suffering sick!

No risk, no expense, nothing whatever unless health first returns. For 30 full days, and without the risk of a single penny, you can use either of my tried and true remedies—Dr. Shoop's Restorative or Dr. Shoop's Thromatic Remedy.

Then why take any chance whatever?

Why purchase any medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

And besides, I am no stranger to you.

My "No Risk, No Expense" plan has made Dr. Shoop's Restorative a favorite in every drug store in the land. That is why we say, "We take no chance whatever here."

For twenty years Dr. Shoop's medicines have become thoroughly standardized all over America.

And I have located honest and responsible druggists in every city and village everywhere to act as my agents for you. These selected druggists will keep the medicines with the sick—and the entire risk is mine alone.

But write me first for an order.

I have an agent in almost every community—but all druggists are not authorized to grant the 30 day test.

So drop me a line, please—and thus save all trouble and delays.

Besides, you are free to consult me by letter—if you would your home physician. Do so freely and fully—if you desire. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost. Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice.

Besides, the books will open up new and helpful ideas to you. They tell of my 30 years experience at the bedside in homes and in hospitals. All phases of illness and relief are covered here. They tell of the power inside nerve to the heart. How the stomach and kidney each have their inside power nerve. How these organs surely falter when these controlling or master nerves fail to fall. How Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the failing nerves, and quickly revives them, restores the lost tone and power. I can surely help you—if it is within the power of medicine to do so. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now, comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

nounced to his followers that Marlanx had begun to shell the castle. Big guns in the fortress were hurling great shells over the city, dropping them in the park. On the other hand, Colonel Quinnox during the night had swung three Gatling guns to the top of the wall; they were stationed at intervals along the wall, commanding every point from which an assault might be expected.

That night recruits from the farms and villages began to straggle into the camp. They were armed with rifles, ordinary shotguns and unique blunderbusses, swords, staves and aged lances. All were willing to die in the service of the little prince. By the close of the second day nearly 3,000 men were encamped above the city. Late that night John Tullis rode into camp at the head of a great company from the Ganlook province. He had retaken the town of Ganlook, seized the fortress and recruited the entire fighting strength of the neighborhood. More than that, he had unlimbered and conveyed to the provisional camp two of the big guns that stood above the gates at the fortress.

Marlanx trained two of his big guns on the camp in the hills. From the fortress he threw many futile shells toward their place of shelter. They did no damage; instead of death, they brought only laughter to the scornful camp. Under cover of night the two Ganlook cannons were planted in a position commanding the southeastern city gate. It was the plan of the new besiegers to bombard this gate, tearing it to pieces with shot.

The knowledge that Marlanx had no big guns except those stationed in the fortress was most consoling to Tullis and his friends. He could not destroy the castle gates with shells, except by purest chance. He could drop shells into the castle, but to hit a gate twenty feet wide? Never!

Truxton King was growing haggard from worry and loss of sleep. He could not understand the abominable, criminal procrastination. He was of a race that did things with a dash and on the spur of the moment. His soul sickened day by day. John Tullis, equally unhappy, but more philosophic, often found him seated upon a rock at the top of the ravine, an unlighted pipe in his fingers, his eyes intent upon the hazy castle.

"Cheer up, King. Our time will come," he was wont to say.

Then came the night before the proposed assault on the gates. The guns were in position, and the commanding was to begin at daybreak. Truxton was full of the bitterness of doubt and misgiving. Was she in love with Vos Engo? Was the count's suit progressing favorably under the fire of the enemy? Was his undoubted bravery having its effect upon the wavering susceptibilities of the distressed Loraine?

The sound of a voice in sharp command attracted his attention. There was a bright moon, and Truxton could see other pickets hurrying to join the first. A few moments later several trespassers were escorted through the lines and taken directly to headquarters—a man and two women, King observed.

John Tullis was staring hard at the group approaching from the roadway. One woman walked ahead of her companions. Suddenly he sprang forward with a cry of amazement.

It was the Countess Ingomedé.

Her arrival created a sensation. In a moment she was in the center of an amazed circle of men. Tullis, after his first low, eager greeting at the edge of the fire circle, drew her near to the warmth giving flames. Prince Dantan and Captain Haas threw rugs and blankets in a great heap for her to sit upon. Every one was talking at once. The countess was smiling through her tears. "Make room for my maid and her father. They are colder and more fatigued than I," she said, lifting her tired, glorious eyes to John Tullis, who stood beside her.

"We have come from Balak. They suffered much that I might enjoy the slender comforts I was so ready to share with them."

"Thank God, you are here!" he said in low, intense tones. She could not mistake the fervor in his voice nor the glow in his eyes.

"I knew you were here, John. I am not going back to Count Marlanx. It is ended."

"I knew it would come, Ingomedé. You will let me tell you how glad I am some day."

"Some day, when I am truly, wholly free from him, John. I know what you will say, and I think you know what I shall say in reply." Both understood and were exalted. No other word passed between them touching upon the thing that was uppermost in their minds.

Food was provided for the wayfarers, and Tullis' tent was made ready for the countess and her maid.

The countess' story was soon told. Sitting before the great fire, surrounded by eager listeners, she related her experiences.

She had been seized on the night of the ball as she started across her father's garden, and escape had become possible only through the aid of Josephine and the girl's father. Farmers' wives told them of the newly formed army and of its leaders. She determined to make her way to the camp of those who would destroy her husband, eager to give them any assistance that her own knowledge of Marlanx's plans might provide.

One bit of information she gave created no end of consternation among the would be deliverers of the city. It had the effect of making them all the more resolute; the absolute necessity for immediately regaining control in the city was forced upon them. She told them that Count Marlanx had lately received word that the Grand Duke Paulus was likely to intervene before many days, acting on his own initiative, in the belief that he could force the government of Graustark to grant the railway privileges so much desired by his country. Marlanx realized that he would have to forestall the wily grand duke. If he were in absolute control of the Graustark government when the Russian appeared he, and he alone, would be in a position to deal with the situation.

"The grand duke may send a large force of men across the border at any time," said the countess in conclusion. "Count Marlanx is sure to make a decisive assault as soon as he hears that the movement has begun. He had hopes of starving them out, thus saving the castle from destruction, but as that seems unlikely his shells will soon begin to rain in earnest upon the dear old pile."

Truxton King was listening with wide open ears. As she finished this dreary prediction he silently arose to his feet and, without a word to any one, stalked off in the darkness. Tullis looked after him and shook his head sadly.

"I'll be happy on that fellow's account when daybreak comes and we are really at it," he said to Prince Dantan, who knew something of King's affliction.

But Truxton King was not there at daybreak. When he strode out of the camp that night he left it behind forever.

The unfortunate lack of means to communicate with the occupants of the castle had been the source of great distress to Captain Haas. If the defenders could be informed as to the exact hour of the assault from the outside they could do much toward its speedy success by making a fierce sortie from behind their own walls.

A quick dash from the castle grounds would serve to draw Marlanx's attention in that direction, diminishing the force that he would send to check the onslaught at the gates.

Truxton King had all this in mind as he swung off down the mountain road, having stolen past the sentries with comparative ease. The danger from Marlanx's scouts outside the city was not great; they had been scattered and beaten by Haas' recruiting parties. He stood in more danger from the men he would help, they who were the watchful defenders of the castle.

It must have been 2 o'clock when he crossed the king's highway, a mile or more above the northern gates, and struck down into the same thick undergrowth that had protected him and Hobbs on a memorable night not long before.

At 3 o'clock a dripping figure threw up his hands obligingly and laughed with exultation when confronted by a startled guardsman inside the castle walls and not more than fifty yards from the water gate. He shouted a friendly cry as he advanced toward the man, calling out his own name.

Ten minutes later he was standing in the presence of the haggard, nerve racked Quinnox, pouring into his astonished ears the news of the coming attack. The colonel lost no time in routing out the sleeping guardsmen and reserves and in sending commands to those already on duty at the gates.

When the sun peeped over the lofty hills he saw inside the gates a restless, waiting company of dragoons ready for the command to ride forth.

Meantime King had crossed the grounds with Colonel Quinnox on the way to the castle. He was amazed, almost stupefied, by the devastation that already had been wrought. A dozen or

Like Finding Money.

Hargrove & Mullin, the popular druggist are making an offer that is just like finding money for they are selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount they agree to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure. Only recently through the solicitation of Druggists Hargrove & Mullin that this medicine should be bought for less than fifty cents, they urged the proprietors to allow them to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified their good judgment for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before their eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by chance it should not, Hargrove & Mullin will return your money. This is within the power of medicine to do so. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now, comes. more balls had crashed into the facade. Yawning fissures, gigantic holes, marked the path of the ugly messengers from Marlanx. Nearly all of the windows had been wrecked by riflemen who shot from the roofs of palaces in and about the avenue. Two of the smaller minarets were in ruins. A huge pillar in the lower balcony was gone. The terrace had been plowed up by a single ricochetting shell.

"Great God!" gasped King. "It is frightful!"

They began bombarding yesterday afternoon. We were asked to surrender at 3 o'clock. Our reply brought the shells, Mr. King. It was terrible. After the first two or three shells we found places of shelter for the prince and his friends. They are in the stone tower beyond the castle. The most glorious courage is shown. Count Vos Engo guards the prince and the ladies of the household. Alas, it was hunger that we feared the most. Today we should have resorted to horse's flesh. There was no other way. We knew that relief would come some day. John Tullis was there. And now it is today! This shall be our day, thank God!"

Attendants sped to the tower, shouting the battle tidings.

The prince came tumbling down the narrow iron stairs from his room above, shouting joyously to Truxton King. No man was ever so welcome. He was besieged with questions, handshakings and praises. Even the Duke of Perse, hobbling on crutches, had a kindly greeting for him. Tears streamed down the old man's cheeks when King told him of his daughter's safe arrival in the friendly camp.

But just now Truxton was staring at the narrow staircase. Vos Engo and Loraine were descending slowly. The former was white and evidently very weak. He leaned on the girl for support.

Count Halfont offered the explanation. "Vos Engo was shot last week through the shoulder. He is too brave to give up, as you may see. It happened on the terrace. There was an unexpected fusillade from the house-tops. Eric placed himself between the marksmen and Miss Tullis. A bullet that might have killed her instantly struck him in the shoulder.

King never forgot the look in Loraine's eyes as she came down the steps. Joy and anguish seemed to combine themselves in that long, intense look.

She gave him her hands. The look in her tired eyes went straight to his heart. Vos Engo drew back, his face set in a frown of displeasure.

"My brother?" she asked, without taking her gaze from his eyes.

"He is well. He will see you today."

"And you, Truxton?" was her next question, low and quavering.

"Unharm and unchanged, Loraine," he said softly. "Tell me, did Vos Engo stand between you and the fire from the—"

"Yes, Truxton," she said, dropping her eyes as if in deep pain.

"And you have not—broken your promise to him?"

"No; nor have I broken my promises to you."

"He is a brave man. I can't help saying it," said the American, deep lines suddenly appearing in his face. Swiftly he turned to Vos Engo, extending his hand. "My hand, sir, to a brave man."

Vos Engo stared at him for a moment and then turned away, ignoring the friendly hand. A hot flush mounted to Loraine's brow.

Vos Engo's response was a short, bitter laugh.

constipation permanently by proper personal co-operation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, when required. The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is never classed by the well-informed with medicines which make extravagant and unfounded claims to cure habitual constipation without personal co-operation.

ALL OBSTACLES BEING REMOVED

Miners and Operators Getting Together.

THE SITUATION IN INDIANA

In the Tentative Settlement of the Strike in the Indiana Field President Lewis Sees Signs of Early Complete Adjustment, While the Outlook Everywhere He Describes as Being More Encouraging Than Before.

Indianapolis, May 5.—The tentative settlement of the Indiana coal strike has proved very gratifying to President Lewis, who believes that all obstacles to amicable relations with the operators will now be removed. Speaking of the situation throughout the country, Lewis said: "The prospects are very bright for a settlement in the near future in Michigan and Iowa, and the outlook is more encouraging than before in Illinois. The southwest conference has adjourned sine die, but I am of the opinion that as soon as we can find time we will get them in conference again."

Mr. Lewis said further that in central and western Pennsylvania, the Kanawha district of West Virginia as well as the block coal district of Indiana, where contracts have been negotiated and signed up, everything is running smoothly. He said that the outlook for the mining industry, as well as the United Mine Workers organization is very bright.

WITNESSES APPEAR

Criminal Court Building at Chicago Crowded With Legislators.

Chicago, May 5.—Members of the legislature have begun to crowd the criminal court building with the resumption of the investigation of the legislative bribery charges by State's Attorney Wayman and the special grand jury. The most important witness heard was J. W. Gibson, a banker of Mt. Vernon.

Senator Albert E. Isley of Newton and Representative Thomas Tippet of Olney and H. A. Sheppard of Jerseyville, however, appeared in person before the state's attorney and Isley and Sheppard have testified before the jury. Senator Isley told the jury he had heard rumors at Springfield that money was being paid for votes, but when asked later if he had been told of any person who got pay for his vote he said he had not.

George W. English of Vienna, Democratic member, who made a sensational speech during the election of Senator Lorimer, was the first witness. Mr. English told the jury that his speech was based on general rumors in Springfield and applied particularly to remarks made by L. O'Neal Brown. He did not give the jury any definite information.

GIGANTIC HARBOR

If Plans Go Through Gary Will Have Great Shipping Facilities.

Gary, Ind., May 5.—The largest inland harbor in the world is to be built along the lake front of Gary if present plans do not miscarry. Hundreds of acres will be filled in and for a mile along the shore line docks of concrete and steel, equipped with electric cranes and the most modern loading and cargo handling devices, will be constructed, extending for half a mile into the lake.

The steel company is planning to construct a harbor for the unloading of ore boats. The plans include several piers 2,500 feet long on which railroad tracks will be extended in order to permit transfer of the ore directly from the boats to cars. The frontage of the harbor is to be one mile at first, and ultimately this will be extended to two miles.

To Keep Up the Fight.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 5.—That the war against the United States Steel corporation for better conditions must be pressed was the tenor of the annual reports of President J. P. McAdie and Secretary John Williams of the Amalgamated Association of Tin, Iron and Steel Workers, to the convention here, and it was the hearty sentiment of the delegates.

Newspaper Artist in Jail.

Evansville, Ind., May 5.—James Leseuer, aged thirty, a newspaper artist of Kansas City, Mo., who was arrested in St. Louis Sunday on the charge of bigamy and brought here for trial, has been bound over to the Vanderburgh county grand jury in the sum of $500, and being unable to give this he was sent to jail.

Body Found in River.

Henderson, Ky., May 5.—The body of S. K. Sneed was found in shallow water near the river bank here. He is believed to have committed suicide by drowning. He was seventy-two years old, and for thirty years was cashier of the Henderson National bank.

The director of the census has stated that there will be no official announcement of the population of any city or state of the United States for some time to come.

Lewark, Catherine Bowman, and all others concerned: You are hereby notified that on the 9th day of April, 1910, the undersigned petitioners filed in the office of the Clerk of the Rush Circuit Court, their petition in duplicate, praying for the drainage of certain separate and distinct tracts of land, situated in Rush County, State of Indiana, and which drainage, they say, cannot be accomplished in the best and cheapest manner without affecting the lands of others.

That the proposed drainage can be accomplished in the best and cheapest manner by the construction of an open drain with dredge machinery, the general route of which is as follows:

Commencing at a point where Big Flat Rock River crosses the line between Rush and Henry counties, on a line dividing the northeast quarter of Section 1, Township 15 north, Range 10 east, and the southeast quarter of Section 36, Township 16 north, Range 10 east, and under the center of the steel tubular bridge over said stream; thence in a southerly direction across the northeast quarter and the southeast quarter of said Section 1, to where said stream would cross under the steel bridge that is located on the highway running east and west between Sections 1 and 12, Township 15 north, Range 10 east; thence on a southerly direction across the northeast and southeast quarters of said Section 12; thence on in a general south and southwest direction across the northeast, the northwest and the southwest quarters of Section 13, Township 15 north, Range 10 east, to where said stream crosses under the wooden bridge located on the highway running east and west between Sections 13 and 24, Township 15 north, Range 10 east; thence in a southerly direction across the northwest and southwest quarters of said Section 24 and to where the same crosses the highway running east and west on line between Sections 24 and 36, Township 15 north, Range 10 east; thence on in a southerly direction across the northwest and southwest quarters of said Section 36, Township 16 north, Range 10 east, to where said stream crosses under the steel bridge that is located on the highway running east and west between Sections 13 and 24, Township 16 north, Range 10 east; thence in a southerly direction across the northwest and southwest quarters of said Section 24 and to where the same crosses the highway running east and west on line between Sections 24 and 36, Township 16 north, Range 10 east; #### COMET PARTIES HELD EVERY NIGHT

Young Men and Boys Holding All-Night Sessions to View Sky Wanderer.

RISES AT 2:30 IN THE MORNING

Comet parties are very much in vogue now and Rushville people are getting the habit. Red and drooping eyelids today were sure signs of the coming of Halley's sky wanderer. A party of high school students stayed up until three o'clock this morning and were successful in seeing the comet. Several of the youths remained up the rest of the night. Several boys have arranged to spend the night star gazing tonight if the weather is favorable. Friday night promises to be the big night when, it is said, several different parties have been organized to view the sky tramp. The comet will rise tomorrow morning at 2:30 o'clock and will be traveling about 1,729 miles a minute. It will be in the eastern horizon, a short distance east of where the sun rises.

WILL HOLD AN ALL DAY SESSION

Nineteenth Annual Convention of Woman's Home Missionary Society Here Tomorrow.

IN ST. PAUL M. E. CHURCH
 Attractive Program Has Been Arranged Including Several Addresses.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Connersville district, Indiana Conference, will hold the nineteenth annual convention in the St. Paul M. E. church tomorrow. A very attractive program has been arranged which includes addresses by members of the society and several musical numbers. A large number of visitors from all of the cities included in the district, Connersville, Brookville and Shelbyville, are expected.

Dinner will be served at the church for the visiting delegates and also for the members of the society of the St. Paul M. E. church. Mrs. C. S. Chafee of Brookville is president of the society. The only official of the society living in this city is Mrs. Minnie Abercrombie, who is secretary of the literature department. The officers for the coming year will be elected at the morning session.

The program for the day is as follows:

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

GREENSBURG DRY TOWN.

(Greensburg News.)

When Fred Knoll, an upholsterer of the city, lost $15 in a crap game operated in the rear of the Orleph Stadley pool room he at once informed the officers and filed affidavits against Stadley for operating a gambling room. The officers Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, armed with a search warrant, investigated the premises, found 500 bottles of beer and 12 quarts of whiskey.

Soon after the "tiger" had been removed to the mayor's office affidavits were filed against Stadley and Henry Miller for selling liquor without a license, also for running a gambling room, and against James Brennan and Logan Roszell for gambling. In the cases of Stadley and Miller the men were put under $300 bond which was furnished by Rollin Turner, while in the other two cases the defendants were allowed to go on their own recognizance.

The cases of Miller and Stadley have been set for hearing in the city court before Mayor Mendenhall Wednesday at nine o'clock, while the other cases, the charges of gaming, will be heard later.

NOW THEY WANT TAFT.

(Richmond Palladium.)

It is very probable that in event President Taft decides to deliver but one political speech in the Sixth Indiana district, that speech will be delivered in Richmond. Congressman Barnard has the assurance that if the chief executive concludes to speak at all, he will address the voters of the Sixth district and in view of the fact that the feeling against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill is more pronounced in Wayne county than in any other county in the Sixth district it is quite reasonable to presume that this city will be selected as the stopping off place for the president.

ABOUT THAT "DRY" BEER.

(Connersville News.)

If the Rushville dealers are really sincere in going out of the "temperance drink" business the leniency of the officers over there may be excusable. But the evidence yesterday was conclusive that some of them had handled a decoction containing a larger per cent of alcohol than is found in real beer. Judge Sparks is on the job, however, and will doubtless see that the law is not similarly violated again, at least by the same parties.

COAT "BALED" UP.

(Greensburg News.)

More than a year ago Ed Roszell was engaged in baling hay on the Joe Garrison farm, and one day after quitting work he missed his coat. Search followed search, but no coat was ever found, and Mr. Roszell came to the conclusion that some thief had made off with his property.

The coat came to light in a most peculiar manner yesterday. Late Tuesday afternoon Dr. S. B. Hitt ordered a bale of hay from Meek &
